WOMEN'S DAY SPECIAL

Success Story

Barkha Jana, a married woman from Delhi had no choice of being a working women, but as they say we can't guess what destiny holds for us, she too was trapped in the saying in it. After marriage everything was going fine for her as she spent most of her time in household chores. Meanwhile she lost her father, which was devastating for her family as he was the only earning person in the family consisting of her mother and 5 sisters. They had no idea how they'd be able to fund her sister's school education, which she clearly didn't want to refrain as her mother had already started giving her ideas of getting them married. After realizing she discussed it with her supporting husband and started working at a petrol pump as a Retail Outlet attendant.

Meanwhile Hydrocarbon Sector Skill Council initiated its first batch of Recognition of Prior Learning from IOC, Coco Link Road, Jangpura, South Delhi. Realizing after the batch she was our first female candidate who got recognition and became a certified Retail Outlet Attendant.

Her trainers found Barkha to be a strong and focused girl who possessed the passion to excel. Post her training and certification she was given a salary hike of Rs. 2000, which helped her dream of making each of her sister study. Barkha owes it to her self-driven attitude and believes that there is no "one path" that works for everyone. "Each person is unique and each stage of life is different. The key to success in life is confidence, hard-work and right skill which can help you fulfil your dreams.
